The last few weeks have been unprecedented times, with employees working remotely and employers having to furlough and lay off their workforce.

When the restrictions are lifted and the worst is behind us, your company may need a plan for re-engagement. Rebuilding company morale and establishing strong teams once again will become your priority, and at iSolved, we can help you manage those challenges.

Join us for an informative webinar where you'll hear from Karen Kirkpatrick, owner of On Your Mark Consulting, about issues facing employers today - from offsetting loss of revenue to keeping employees engaged.
